New Web Site Feature Allows Residents to Provide Feedback

Rancho Santa Margarita, CA – Do you have a comment on a community topic or an idea that you'd like to share with the Mayor and the City Council? A new feature on the City's Web site makes it even easier to share your thoughts with your elected officials.

"Knowing the opinions and concerns of our residents is of tremendous benefit in our decision making process," shared Jerry Holloway, Mayor for the City of Rancho Santa Margarita.

Even if you don't have a particular topic, you can respond to the Mayor's questions of the month. Each month Mayor Holloway will identify a couple of specific questions and ask for community input. For February, Mayor Holloway is interested in your thoughts about programs at the Bell Tower Regional Community Center.

What types of programs would you like to see offered?

To see the current list of programs, go to the City's Web site at www.cityofrsm.org. Find "Quick Links" and click on "Class Registration".

If you would like to take a class at the Community Center, but cannot, what is keeping you from doing so? (Cost, transportation, childcare, etc.?)

Share your comments by going to www.cityofrsm.org and clicking the "Submit Comments" button along the right side of the homepage.

"City staff has made it very easy for residents to communicate with their local government," says Holloway.

While on the City's homepage, check out the wealth of resources that are available on the site. You'll find information about upcoming community events, classes and programs offered at the Bell Tower Regional Community Center, volunteer opportunities and youth sports leagues.
