About the Community

The City of Rancho Santa Margarita is home to approximately 50,000 residents. It is a city with the soul of a small village. One of the most elite housing communities in Southern California, Coto de Caza, is located at the City's boundaries, with an additional 10,000 residents. The City maintains a safe environment through a variety of community programs, law enforcement, and fire protection services. The business opportunities offered by the City's lifestyle and location are plentiful and unique. We invite your business to join the City in our commitment to making Rancho Santa Margarita thrive.
